expressly set at the ordering stage. Insofar as the Sales Contract has been partially implemented, the right to withdraw from it is only applicable to the non-performed part of the Contract and does not abolish the Customer's obligation to pay for the executed part of his order.

3. The customer has no right to claim compensation for the delay in the implementation of the Sales Contract, unless it results from a willful misconduct attributable to the Vendor.
4. The Vendor allows the Customer to choose the following ways of delivery of the ordered Goods:
 - courier delivery;
 - postal parcel;
 - personal collection at the Vendor's headquarters.
5. The cost of delivery of the ordered Goods to the indicated destination shall be incurred by the Customer.
6. If you choose the personal collection option, the Customer is notified by e-mail about the possibility of collecting the Goods at the Vendor's headquarters. The date of receipt is determined and confirmed by an employee of the Vendor.
7. The risk of damage or forfeiture of the Goods passes to the Customer upon delivery of the Goods to the carrier or when the Goods are being transferred to the person designated by the Customer for collection at the Vendor's headquarters.
8. The Vendor is not responsible for the correctness and punctuality of delivery of the shipment containing the Goods.
9. The Customer is obliged to check the condition and content of the delivered parcel in time and in the manner adopted for parcels of a given type, in the presence of an employee of the Supplier or at the Vendor's premises. In the event of finding any damage to the shipment or loss of Goods, the Customer is obliged to require the Supplier's employee to draw up a proper damage report.

10. Failure to write the damage report shall exclude the Customer's complaint rights. The Customer is therefore solely responsible for any negative effects resulting from failure to comply with the obligation indicated in point 9, and loses the warranty. Any complaints for damages resulting from the shipment transport process are considered by the Supplier.
11. In the event of Customer's absence at the delivery address provided by him while placing the order, the Supplier's employee should leave an advice note or attempt to contact the Customer by phone to determine the date of delivery. In the event of a return of the ordered Goods by the Supplier to the sender, the Vendor will contact the Customer by phone or email, setting the date and cost of delivery again.

§ 6 WARRANTY AND COMPLAINTS

1. Upon arrival of the goods at their destination, the Buyer shall promptly check compliance with their order.
2. In the event of discrepancies, only written complaints send to the office of Seller by post or via email to: sales@kakado.pl are accepted in following terms:
 - before using the goods and no later than 3 (three) working days from the delivery, if the irregularity could have been detected by a simple inspection;
 - within 4 (four) months from the date of delivery, if the goods had hidden defects.
3. After the expiry of the above-mentioned deadlines, the goods are deemed to have been delivered properly and in accordance with the order and complaints will not be considered.
4. The Seller considers complaints within 21 days, with the objection, that this period may be subject to extension, in the event that it will be necessary to carry out additional arrangements and explanations.
5. The decision to accept the complaint and its positive consideration shall exhaust all compensation claims of the Customer, with the exception of claims caused by willful misconduct of the Seller. Excluding willful misconduct, the Seller shall not be liable for any damage caused by the Goods.

6. In order to efficiently consider the complaint, the Customer is obliged to deliver to the Seller all necessary information that must be provided in the course of examining the application the Seller will ask.

7. If the complaint is not accepted, the Seller will send the Product back to the address of the customer.

8. The answer regarding the acceptance or rejection of the Customer's complaint will be provided to him by e-mail or sent back together with the Goods.

9. In the content of the complaint, the Customer may not refer to any defects or faults in the Goods, of which the customer knew and whose existence he accepted during of placing the order.

10. If the complaint is accepted by the Seller, his liability is limited to the purchase price of the goods excluding all other costs, in particular loss of profit or indirect damage.

11. The parties agree to exclude the claim under the warranty (Art. 556 et seq Articles of the Polish Civil Code), and complaints submitted under the provisions of this paragraph 6 are the only remedy, that may be used by the Purchaser in an accident non-compliance of the goods with the order.

PERSONAL DATA PROTECTION AND PROVISION OF SERVICES FREE OF CHARGE

1. The Customer's personal data is collected, processed and subject to protection in accordance with the provisions of the Information Clause based on art. 13 of GDPR posted on the Website and the privacy policy contained therein.
2. The Vendor provides the Website users with a free electronic service of the Contact Form, available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.
